Miners Leaving California-Richness of the New El Dorado-Effect on the California Mines-Bad Prespects for San Francisco Merchants, &c.

The Star of the West at New York brings $1,401,-713 in gold. She connected with the steamer Sonora, which left San Francisco June 21st, and reached Panama on the 5th inst. Among the passengers by the former steamer is Washington Booth, Esq., of Baltimore, who has just put in operation a flour mill driven by steam at Payta, the first of the kind ever established in Peru.

The expectations which the first discovery excited seem likely to be even on the second Monday of September next, then and there not only is there an abundant supply of gold, but that good order prevails at the mines; that no difficulty had occurred with the Hudson Bay Company; that the Indians were friendly and peaceable; and that goods of all kinds were admitted free, except liquors. A gentleman just returned from the mines (Mr. Lewis Lewis) reports to the editor of the Sacramento Mercury that he spent seven or eight days on and near the river, and was well satisfied that the mines are immensely rich; that

Thus far the miners have not attempted to go to the bed rock. It appears to be generally conceded that when men are at work, with the water at a favorable stage, they can earn from $8 to $50 per day to the hand. At present the water is too high to allow of washing on the bars, and it is not expected to fall before the 15th of July. The Indians do not allow the miners to work on Thompson's zer river to Fort Hope and Yale, and carry passengers are not allowed to go up the river from Whatcom. Provisions are reported to be scarce and dear in the mines. Miners at work in the banks of the rivers are now ma-

Mr. James A. McCrea, writing from Whatcom, under date of June 9, says:

"There have been several miners here from the mines, all with plenty of gold, and they gave favorable reports such as making from one to six ounces per day to the man when the water is low. So we may expect to have to appear at the next term of said Court, to be held at the in Whatcom and Schome, most of them waiting for the Court House in the town of Wilmington, on second Monday trail to be opened. The town is quiet. There is none of that roughness for which California was distinguished in early times. Gambling is not allowed."

It will be seen that the following quotation contradicts the report made by Mr. Lewis, above quoted, in respect to the free admission of goods and the non-existence of difficulties between the Hudson Bay Company and the miners. Mr. Lewis had been on the spot, however, and his report is of later date than the following, from the Puget Sound Herald of June 11:

"The U. S. mail steamer Constitution, Capt. A. B. T appearing to the satisfaction of the Court, that Curtis C. Although it is an undeniable fact that the people of the United States are, in the mass, decended from what are called the middle and lower orders in Europe-and for all that, not inferior in energy, in enterprise, or intellectual capacity-yet among those who, by accident or misfortune, were thrown upon our shores, or who sought them through choice, have been the scions of many of the noblest houses of Europe. Many a name illustrated by genius, or valor, Numerous instances, establishing the truth of this statement, will occur to almost every one. Among the crowds of unostentatious Smiths, and Joneses, and Johnsons, we find Bonapartes and Murats, and Lafavettes, and Washingtons, names distinguished in Europe, before they were transplanted to America.

In North Carolina there is a county called Cabarrus. The history of the name and of its naturalization in North Carolina is curious and interesting, The family of Cabarrus is an Aquitanian house of great antiquity. By its own account it is the oldest family in Europe .-Cæsar, in his commentaries, when relating his campaigns There was one, an elderly gentlemen, a kind-hearted old in Southern Gaul, mentions one of his lieutenants, by "batch," noted alike for his cleverness and popular verse, who silently proceeded to the relief of the lad.
